

Call for Papers

Experimental Finance 2017

June 14-16, University of Nice Sophia Antipolis

The Université Côte d'Azur, CNRS GREDEG, and the Society for Experimental Finance (SEF) would like to invite you to the conference Experimental Finance 2017 held at the School of Economics and Management, Université Nice Sophia Antipolis (France). The conference also serves as the 8th annual meeting of the Society for Experimental Finance.

The keynote talks are given by

David Hirshleifer (University of California, Irvine)

Matthias Sutter (University of Cologne and University of Innsbruck)

We invite you to submit full papers or extended abstracts (with a minimum of 1,000 words) using experimental methods in finance covering all areas of finance (with a wide definition of finance). We kindly ask you to submit two versions of your paper: i) with full author(s) details and ii) without author(s) details.

Presentations will be given either in plenary sessions or parallel sessions. Submissions will be peer-reviewed by four anonymous referees. For more information and for submitting your work visit:
